

Notes on the Staff: "Guitar Hero" On It's Side (1)

Reading music is a lot like the music video games...but sideways and with a lot more buttons! Here is a graph of the notes, and which keys they are related to on the piano:

Just like the video games, when you see a dot come up on that line (or in between the lines) you press the key that goes with that dot!

Notes on the Staff: "Guitar Hero" On It's Side (2)

Here's the same graph, but this is the way the sheet music would normally appear. The piano is now on it's side.

This is too much to memorize all at once! Use this page as a reference until you're familiar with the notes on the lines (called "staves" or "clefs")
